“On Critical Race Theory and Social Justice: A Reason for Hope” Winsome Conviction: Hard Topics in Contentious Times

Presented by Rev. Dr. Lucas Woodford

American culture is full of racial division, tension, and upheaval. How can Christians talk with others about hard topics in contentious times? How do we disagree without destroying the church? Even more, how can we love our neighbor, speak well of them, defend them, and acknowledge injustice and the need for reconciliation while also guarding against misleading or harmful ideologies? This session explores how to maintain a winsome conviction amid difficult conversations on critical race theory and social justice, rooted in Lutheran Two Kingdom theology, so we can give a reason for our hope even amid contentious times.

A-01: Tomorrow’s Teachers & Preachers – Recruiting the Next Generation of Church Workers

Presented by President Rev. Dr. Lee Hagan

This presentation will focus on the Missouri District’s first critical target, Church Worker Recruitment and Retention. We will discuss creative approaches to recruiting church workers, but also focus on how you can help.

A-02: Speaking the Truth About Our Stuff: A Sermon Series on the 3Ms of Stewardship

Presented by Rev. Matthew Clark

The 3Ms of Stewardship sermon series (and accompanying Bible studies) consist of three sermons that focus on stewardship/Godly money management. The sermons are entitled: The Maker, The Master, and The Mule. All three use texts from the Gospel of Matthew as their basis. The sermons were originally written to fulfill a requirement for a course in the Doctor of Ministry program at Concordia Seminary. The sermons were first publicly preached in November of 2019 as our congregation launched its first capital campaign in many years. Great care has been taken to continually emphasize that our capital campaign, and its associated improvements, are about more than just raising funds. Instead, we strive to stay focused on our facilities as a means by which we share Christ with our congregation, school, and community.

A-03: Acedia's Acrimonious Assault – Knowing is Half the Battle

Presented by Rev. Kyle Fittje

The Holy Spirit has chosen you to serve in the Lord's Church. Despite that momentous, world altering vocation, many Church Workers find themselves bereft of joy. Their service feels pointless, putrid, and pathetic. In response, Church workers feel guilty because they are not appreciating God's gifts like they think they should, which makes everything even harder. This experience is no stranger to the Christian Church. The early monks called it Acedia, and to them it was the forefront of spiritual warfare. Learn from them what Acedia is, how to shed the guilt, and how to start fighting back. God willing you can reclaim some of our your joy in service.

A-04: The Six Great Commissions

Presented by Rev. Dan Gilbert

When we hear the words "The Great Commission," we usually think of Matthew 28: 16-20. But wait! There's more! The Lord gives us more than just one commission in his written Word. This presentation is a Bible study in which we'll dig into six of them, including the one in Matthew 28. Scripture interprets Scripture, so it's good to look at other commissions as well as the one we usually think about.

A-05: When Social Justice is Not Just: Bringing the Hope and Peace of Christ to Those Hurt by the Social Justice Movement

Presented by Rev. John Hellwege

While today's Social Justice, or "Woke," movement purports to work for equality and justice, ultimately it leaves many hurting people in its wake. This presentation will look at how this ideology that has permeated so much of our society hurts both those it labels as "oppressors" and those it labels as "oppressed," as well as the hurts that the "Social Justice Warriors" are trying to assuage. This will include the types of struggles that many are facing today because of this ideology. Then it will discuss ways we can share the Gospel of Christ to bring healing and hope amid this pain. Join us as we look at ways to bring the sure hope and healing of Christ to a world that seems increasingly dark.

A-06: Developing and Implementing a Simple Disciple Making Process for Your Church

Presented by Rev. Matt Peoples

Many Christians feel deeply passionate about their faith yet feel insecure, even uncertain, about how to share faith with friends and neighbors in a culture that is not interested in church. The old systems for outreach aren't working anymore. The Missionary Pathway is a free, eight-session online course built to provide Christians with a simple, repeatable framework for community engagement. Since its launch, The Missionary Pathway has helped over 100+ people in 8 countries increase their confidence in sharing their faith.

A-07: What to do With the Confirmation Dinosaur

Presented by Rev. Matthew Priem

Confirmation is a cherished tradition in many Lutheran churches today, but it is also just as widely known as the last time we see many of your youth. Is confirmation the best way to assimilate youth today, and if not, what can we do about it?

Throughout history, the role of confirmation has developed considerably, and our approach to confirmation must continue to develop if we are to faithfully and effectively communicate the reason for our hope in today's world. This presentation offers a framework to consider some of the problems traditional confirmation may present for witness in today's culture, as well as how we can address these problems. The opportunities created by traditional confirmation, and how to maximize those opportunities, is also considered.

B-01: Alternate Church Governance Models

Presented by Rev. Peter Kirby

Many congregations are struggling with 40-50 year-old governance models that no longer work with smaller congregations and members less willing to serve for extended time on boards and committees. Many existing leaders have become burned out from long service and a lack of replacement leaders. Dr. David Peter has written recently on Organizing for Ministry and Mission, presenting 3 models for church governance and additional insight about how to disciple leaders into governance roles. The presentation will review models of church governance with strengths and weaknesses of each and discuss ways that leaders can organize their churches to get the same ministry done with fewer leaders and less stress on leadership teams.

B-02: The Cappadocian Fathers as Pastoral Theologians

Presented by Rev. David Burge

There is a general awareness of the contributions of Basil of Caesarea, Gregory of Nysa, and Gregory of Nazianzus, the so-called "Cappadocian Fathers," to the orthodox doctrines of the Trinity, the Person of Christ, and the Holy Spirit. There is not, however, awareness of how they saw their theological tasks as part of their ministry as pastors. The purpose of this presentation is to explore how they function as Pastoral Theologians, as pastors working on theological questions and issues for the sake of the people to whom they minister and helping their people apply the theological insights they have developed to their lives. It encourages that we see the Cappadocian Fathers as models for our own ministries.

B-03: As a Child of God, I am... Sermon Series for the Epiphany Season, January and February of 2024

Presented by Rev. Mark Rouland

Epiphany is a great time of the year as the Church gathers around the wondrous revealing of the identity of Jesus. But it's also a challenging time of year for pastors because the Christmas Season just ended, and Lent is coming so very soon! Because of that, the intent of this breakout is simple: to provide pastors with a sermon series running from Epiphany through Transfiguration, focusing on the Epistle Readings. In those readings, the Apostle Paul guides the Church to remember our true identity, as Partakers of the Promise (Epiphany), Baptized into Christ (Baptism of our Lord), and on and on.

B-04: Lutheran Spiritual Support for Military-Connected People

Presented by Rev. Craig Muehler and Rev. Dr. Steven Hokana

How do you provide Lutheran spiritual support needed to help military-connected people in your church and community in today's culture? Can you in good conscience serve in the Military? (This includes those from your congregation who are serving currently as well as the Veterans in your congregation and community).

--provide encouragement and care to all military connected people (active, reserve, retired, veterans and their families). --provide encouragement, training, guidance and technical assistance to LCMS congregations to aid them in sharing the Gospel, providing encouragement, care and support to our veterans and all military connected people in their local communities and their families. --provide a network of care connecting congregations all across America in sharing the Gospel to the veterans and all military connected people. This network of care allows congregations stay connected, encourage one another, share best practices and receive resources as they serve who served us and have borne the burden of our nation in the Armed Forces.

B-05: A Gospel-based Reason for the Four Prohibitions in Acts 15

Presented by Rev. Paul Landgraf

The interest level for the average pastor regarding the so-called 'Western' manuscripts is quite small, but their differences are significant, and many treat them as a first draft. As Acts 15 is examined, and the question arises as to the interest level of Paul regarding the four prohibitions that were proposed by James (v. 20), many pastors are unsure as to how to answer. This paper proposes a more cultural-literary answer to the 'Western' manuscript differences and connects the four prohibitions to the four gospel accounts. In Acts 15:29 those prohibitions appear in a similar order to the prohibitions in Leviticus 17-18, the central part of the central book of the extremely important Pentateuch, and connections may be made between the various prohibitions and their corresponding gospel account. Connecting these two things may be seen as a Jewish halakhic method of interpretation, while the additions to the text, seen especially in Acts, may be haggadic.

B-06: Jesus and Bad Funeral Etiquette: A Reason for Hope

Presented by Rev. Jacob Mueller

Jesus wrecked funerals. His word and touch made dead people alive again. This is good news for us just as it was for the families of Jairus, the widow at Nain, and Lazarus' sisters. As pastors, teachers, and other church workers teach and preach these texts we bring hope to God's people and witness the power of the resurrection to the world. This workshop will explore Luke 7:11-17 (Jesus raises a widow's son), Mark 5:21-43 (Jesus raises Jairus' daughter), and John 11:1-46 (Jesus raises Lazarus). We will explore different ways we can use these texts to bring hope to God's people in our preaching and teaching.

B-07: New Starts in Small Town and Rural Missouri

Presented by Rev. John Perling and Kim Bradford, ODS Intern

The Missouri Ozarks are the Bible Belt, but a Gospel Desert. Find out how one woman with a heart for the people of the Ozarks is partnering with her pastor to plant new gospel seedlings in long fallow ground. ODS Bradford and Pastor Perling are working to plant and nurture faith in people of rural and small town Missouri. Four preaching stations have been begun in homes, neighborhood clubhouses, local family restaurants, and, yes, community churches left abandoned after covid. Christians living in service and support of their neighbors counter the common narrative that Christians do not really care, that churches just want your money, that the Christian faith is a fraud. We'll share how we're flipping the script and why we need more Seminary based distance education to serve these rural communities and small towns.

B-08: The Chosen as a Tool for Bible Study

Presented by Rev. James Uglum

The Chosen is a hit crowd-funded television series on the life of Jesus Christ. It is arguably one of the most engaging and powerful portrayals of the Gospel and in its third season has been seen by millions of people. This presentation will walk through how to use The Chosen as a resource for Bible study. You will learn how to break the episodes down into manageable chunks for use in Bible study and how to guide others as they watch The Chosen to be discerning about what they are viewing.

“On Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity: A Reason for Hope” Winsome Conviction: Hard Topics in Contentious Times

Presented by Rev. Dr. Lucas Woodford

American Christians live in a sexually explicit society. Marriage, family, and human identity have all been undermined. Transgender ideology pulls biological sex apart from gender. Social media mainstreams once unthinkable behaviors while canceling those who disagree. Yet the church is to be a haven for the broken. How can Christians talk with others, including non-Christians, about hard topics in contentious times? How do we disagree without destroying our witness to an unbeliever? This session explores how to maintain a winsome conviction for difficult conversations on sexual orientation and gender identity, rooted in our Lutheran theology of the body, so we can give a reason for our hope even amid contentious times.

C-01: Practical Points for Pastors in Multi-Church Partnerships

Presented by Rev. Dr. Paul Winingham

Nothing quite prepares a Pastor for the complexities that comprise dual or multiple-parish ministry. We will note many of the unique challenges, as well as consider best practices to engage in as we meet those challenges, seeking to carry on this ministry with joyful hope.

C-02: Variation on the Consolations: How Luther Can Help You Endure What Must Be Endured

Presented by Rev. Erik Rottmann

Let's talk about the sorts of things we must endure in our persons or in our offices. Let's also talk about the concrete ways that Luther can help. In 1520, Frederick the Wise had become mortally ill and many people feared that he would die. Having been asked to write a spiritual tract to comfort his prince, Luther penned his Fourteen Consolations. Pastor Rottmann has (presumptuously) re-cast Luther's comforts into an image and framework that will perhaps help you draw a deeper connection to the fine, spiritual comforts offered in the Fourteen Consolations, so that you may be more able to endure.

A right resurrection theology provides immediate relief and reinforcement to the Christian and he/she brings the saving knowledge of the Gospel into his/her various vocations, while doing so with gentleness and respect. Come learn the simple truths of the resurrection and how you can prepare your people in the pulpit, classroom, home, and in the world so others have a more faithful confession for the hope that is in them.

Presented by Rev. Weston Wildauer

In the midst of illness and death the world has placed hope in science and medicine above the hope in Lord through his Son Jesus Christ. God's people get to share hope in Christ through words and actions to those who are sick as well as those who are grieving. By looking at the broader picture of hope and specific examples, tools will be given in proclaiming the message of hope.

C-06: Effectively Ministering to Those Who Struggle with Pornography Addiction: A Suggested Christocentric and Practical Approach

Presented by Rev. Chris Heaton

Continuing on my presentation from last year, Mentioning the Unmentionables. Part of the battle against sexual immorality in all forms is to be aware. However, another part is the very practical ways we can offer the forgiveness of Christ and a path forward to those who are afflicted with sexual sin, especially engagement with porn. This presentation will offer a sketch with how one in the ministry might counsel one afflicted, rooted in the absolutism in Jesus and how are habits/life/practices must be changed. The design of this talk is to be supremely practical, that people might take away resources, approaches, and ways to engage this difficult topic.

C-07: Words of Hope in Pregnancy and Infant Loss: The Need for Christian Care and Witness

Presented by Rev. William Marler and Dr. Elizabeth Fuemmeler

Our Synod has given a consistently faithful witness to God's design for the sanctify of human life in our contemporary culture of death. In the wake of "Dobbs v Jackson. . ." we need to sharpen and expand our vocabulary and our ministry of care. This presentation will make a case for a Christian witness that retires words which when used outside of scientific research and medical venues, devalue human life—words such as miscarriage, stillbirth, born sleeping, zygote, fetus, fetal tissue, spontaneous abortion, pregnancy termination, pro-choice, and the like. Examining the Biblical viewpoint on human life, an overwhelming case will be made for the lovely way Scripture has of speaking of God's design for His gifts of life, babies, and parents. In addition real-life case experiences and emotions will be shared which will change the way we think, speak, and act, and will call for attention today where there has been a social vacuum of silence. The opportunity for Christians and Christian congregations and agencies to bring true comfort and hope is ripe!

D-02: The Conscience - What it is, How it Works, Why a Good One is Critical

Presented by Rev. Dr. Craig Meissner

A good conscience and the love issuing therefrom are what Christ provides, and the aim of faithful pastors and Church workers in all their duties. Guilt and a bad conscience are why people avoid hearing the Word of God. But just what is the conscience, and how does it function? The faithful of your congregation are rightly concerned with increased societal threats to their conscience, and desiring forgiveness and direction after enduring a pandemic among other trials they face. Drawing on the Scriptures and resources from Lutheran Church fathers, this presentation will cover a short Bible study suitable for Church groups. Answer guide and references provided.

D-04: Lively Words for Changing Times: Martin Luther's Lectures on Genesis

Presented by Rev. Wayne Huebner

Martin Luther's Lectures on Genesis (1535-1545) offer a fascinating look at how he interpreted the Scriptures, viewed the changing world of the 16th century, and helped prepare young men to serve in the evangelical Office of the Ministry. This presentation will give an overview of the scope and nature of these lectures, which fill the first 8 volumes of the American Edition of Luther's Works. Luther interpreted narratives on Adam and Eve, Noah, Abraham and Sarah, Jacob, and Joseph in light of the Savior promised to them, whom we know as Jesus Christ. He does not gloss over their sins, but always sees God's grace covering their faults--and ours--through faith alone. Luther also shares his common sense observations on society, family life, science, economics, and the Church. The Genesis lectures are excellent for anyone who wants to begin or continue reading Luther in his own words.

Presented by Rev. Frank Greene and Rev. Daniel Clemens

Over the last several decades, pre-marital cohabitation has become the new "normal" for couples prior to or instead of marriage. As the Lord's called servants, we each have a responsibility to teach God's design for marriage and the importance of our Christian witness to the world. In this presentation, we will think about Christian marriage as a living parable, evaluate case studies from the presenters' ministries, share our own successes and failures, and encourage one another to guide the Lord's flock in His truth.

D-06: Developing Parish and School Bible Study Education That Inspires All Ages to Want to Read the Bible

Presented by Rev. Dr. Mark Hoehner

"I don't read my Bible because it is too hard to understand." "I don't read my Bible because I already know what it says." In between these two extreme reasons for why people lack the desire to read their Bibles, stand a host of people thirsting for meaningful Bible Study. They want to learn more about what the Bible really says, but they don't know how to start. Even among those who self-identify to these two negative responses on why they don't read their Bibles stand a host of people who want to know why they should read their Bibles. Why is this? The simple reasons are that the Bible is full of hard to read portions and people are scared to have to try to "figure it out." Others are "scared" that they will look dumb in front of others who have more knowledge of the Bible. Still others, even LC-MS Lutherans who are supposed to know that all Scriptures point us to Jesus Christ, don't know that the Bible really is all about Jesus. This session will discuss ways to encourage you to be intentional about developing a love for studying God's Word with your people.

D-08: Dynamics of Team Ministry

Presented by Larry Yochum and Rev. Andrew Nelson

Team ministry is important for any congregation. Whether is pastors, DCEs, Deaconesses, Teachers, Administrators, or volunteers, there has to be a healthy ebb and flow for a team to thrive. We'll share some ideas and thoughts around maintaining healthy teams and share some resources that are worth having.

E-01: Set Apart to Serve (SAS)

Presented by Rev. Dr. James Baneck

The Synod-wide, collaborative, long-term church work recruitment initiative: Forming and recruiting our children and adults to consider serving as full-time ordained and commissioned church workers in our LCMS congregations and schools.

Current LCMS ordained and commissioned workers identify pastors, teachers, DCEs, parents, laity, and other commissioned workers as those who influenced them most to consider full-time church work. SAS strategies/resources are being developed through ongoing collaboration with our seminaries, universities, district presidents, district pilot project, CPH, LCMS worker wellness, LCMS School Ministry, LCMS Youth, Higher Things, NLOMA, LCEF, LWML, ordained and commissioned workers, KFUE, donors, and more! This presentation will report on the progress of SAS and share the resources SAS developed specifically for church workers and their engagement with our youth and adults. It will also share the long-range vision of forming and recruiting workers for the Lord's harvest, as He calls us to pray the Lord of the harvest to send out workers until His returns so that all may have life and salvation through His death and resurrection.

E-02: The Apocalypse of John

Presented by Rev. Steve Andrews, Jr.

Jesus Christ promised that He is coming soon. Even though the beautiful book of Revelation is lost to most of the Church today because it has been taught falsely as a hidden book of codes and terrifying destruction, the Spirit inspired John to write this letter to give His suffering Church comfort and hope in the midst of persecution and death. This is a Bible study on Revelation 12, "The Dragon, the Woman, and the Child" as an example of how to read Revelation, with a brief overview of the book, its common symbols, and its overall message of hope.

E-04: Sssschimple Tools for Effective Witnessing

Presented by Rev. Bill Schroeder

The presentation will demonstrate that most Christians do know what to say. The problem is more in the 'how' to apply what you know. But the answer to that is SSSSSSchimple too. After explaining the differences between an evangelist and a witness, the presentation will look at the four basic needs of all people. It will then give insights on how and when to address those needs. Time permitting, the session will end with role playing scenarios. This is so SSSSSSchimple, even a [fill in the blank] can do it.

E-05: Music and Evangelism: How Music Brings Christ to the World

Presented by Rev. Dr. Gregory Truwe and Heidi Perling

Does your church have classrooms that aren't being used during the week? Would the musicians in your school benefit from private instruction? Is there a need in all our congregations and schools for Christian musicians? What if there was a way to arrange already existing resources to serve a wonderful role in our Christian witness while also raising up young musicians for service to the Church? In fact, this opportunity already exists, and this breakout session will tell you all about it. Join us as Pastor Truwe and Heidi Perling share their experiences in establishing music conservatories as centers for Christian mission and outreach.

E-07: Speaking the Truth in Love...and That Ain't Easy!

Presented by Jake Sletten and Amanda Moennig

Church and school ministry means working with families who have real struggles. This can make speaking the truth in love more difficult than we care to admit. This presentation will address some of the difficult topics that churches and schools face regularly. How do we talk to the middle schooler at our Lutheran school who is confused about their gender? How do we speak God's truth in love to a church and school family experiencing a messy divorce? How do we help the single parent when they find out they are pregnant? What about speaking the truth in love to people within our own walls when we face budget and money issues? All of these questions (and more!) are difficult to answer. Attendees will hear real stories and Biblical solutions from a church and school ministry team. There will be time at the end for participants to ask anonymous questions. We will also leave time for group feedback and encouragement.

In addition, the Missouri District has provided Lutheran schools in the district access to Atlas for curriculum mapping. How can schools and teachers utilize these resources to integrate the faith in the classroom? Lisa M. Clark, senior editor of curriculum resources at Concordia Publishing House, will present an overview of the Lutheran Religion Standards as well as strategies for how to align these standards with other subjects and consider ways to integrate the faith while meeting and mapping subject standards.

F-04: Climate and Culture of the Early Childhood Environment

Presented by Cheryl Haun

How do we plan for early childhood environments, routines, schedules and conversations that nurture children and families in the faith, while supporting children's learning? When you walk through the classrooms and hallways, how do you see, feel or hear our response to Christ's great love for us? In an essay from Pedagogy of Faith, Rathman (2016) challenges us to ask ourselves, "Do our classrooms reflect Gospel-centered learning in an environment where teachers are intentional about how they develop & grow relationships, as the Holy Spirit brings each child to faith?" We provide the context for a child's faith to grow, but only God provides the power for it to grow. Participants will have an opportunity to "think-pair-share" throughout the training session. This module is part of a five session training in equipping our ECE educators in the LEA's Spiritual Nurture in the Lutheran Early Childhood Classroom.

A review of “5 W’s and 5 H’s” will help guide the discussion on WHO is a candidate for this style of education, WHAT happens in the classroom, WHAT concerns bring this option to the table, and WHAT are the guidelines for service? WHEN do the students come to the classroom and WHERE is there extra space for this service? WHY would a Lutheran school want to have a Resource Room? HOW do the schedules work? HOW do teacher, parents, and volunteers collaborate for the good of the students? HOW are these classes graded, or are they? HOW does this really benefit the student as well as other students in the general classroom? HOW does this extra salary fit into the school budget?
